PREFATORY REMARKS.

This Catalogue embraces the titles of three hundred and sixty one anti-Methodistical Works; eighty by Methodist Authors; eighty-five miscellaneous; and twenty-one political.

But those who have made special bibliography their study, are aware of the difficulty, if not impossibility, of making a list in any one department perfect.

There will be found a number, but by no means, a full, much less a complete list, of works on ecclesiastical reform by Methodist writers.

There are also the titles of several political pamphlets, occasioned by the publication of Mr. Wesley's "Calm Address to our American Colonies," which provoked from the celebrated Junius this memorable rebuke: "You have forgotten the precept of your Master, that God and Mammon cannot be served together; you have one eye upon a pension, and the other up to heaven; one hand stretched out to the king, the other raised up to God. I pray that the first may reward you, and the last forgive you."

No attempt has been made—six instances only excepted, to indicate the numerous anti-Methodistical essays, occurring in British and American periodical literature.

Where these marks (||††*) are prefixed, copies of said works may be found as indicated, in the following libraries, and to these, other publications (of like character) as met with, will be added:

* General Theological Seminary of the Protestant Episcopal Church, New York.

|| Theological Seminary of the Presbyterian Church, at Princeton, New Jersey.

† Library Company of Philadelphia.

† Library of St. Timothy's Hall, (Protestant Episcopal,) Baltimore County, Md.

||†*——, The Enthusiasm of the Methodists and Papists considered. By Bishop Lavington, with notes, introduction, and appendix; by the Rev. Richard Polwhele. London, 1820; 8vo., pp. cccxii and 493.

Says an able critic, in speaking of this rare and truly excellent work:—"This eminent writer (Bishop Lavington,) has here unfolded the tendencies of a system, which at its origin, made use of chicanery, sophistry, prevarication, conceitedness and effrontery, to secure a position in the Ecclesiastical world, and which has maintained that position, by pretensions to extraordinary revelations usurping inspiration,—its ranters, comparing themselves with prophets and apostles, so that the phrenzies of a disturbed brain, or of a deluded imagination, are considered the marks and tests of saintship; its leaders possessing a spirit of envy and rancor towards each other, and a spirit of bitterness and uncharitableness towards the rest of christendom, so that one easily perceives the difference between such an experience, and the true devotion of sincere piety, the unaffected love of God in the heart, and a proper zeal for the truths of his word, the only well-grounded hope of Heaven,—what is the chaff to the wheat saith the Lord. We could wish that every reader could be induced to peruse this faithful portraiture of the early workings of Methodism."

By Pat. Tailfer, M.D., Hugh Anderson, M. A., Da Douglas, and others, Land-holders in Georgia, at present in Charles-Town in South Carolina. CHARLES-TOWN, SOUTH CAROLINA: Printed by P. TIMOTHY, for the Authors. MDCC.XLI; 8vo., pp. xviii. 118.

"This rare pamphlet contains some very unpleasant particulars of the scandalous conduct of the Rev. John Wesley during his apostolic mission in Savannah. According to these gentlemen 'He was indicted before a Grand Jury of Forty-four Freeholders, and Thirteen Indictments were found against him; one concerning Mr. Williamson and his spouse.' Mr. Wesley, it appears, undertook to 'pour the leperous distilment' into the ear of this virtuous lady, to the effect that 'her husband had no right to regulate her behaviour as to conversing with him.' However, as soon as Mr. Wesley heard that these indictments had been found against him, he did not tarry to discuss the question further, but skulked out of the town in the night, fled to Charles-Town and thence to England." FREE THOUGHTS on the Present State of Public Affairs, in a Letter to a friend. (By the Rev. John Wesley.) London, 1770; 8vo.

A LETTER to the Rev. Mr. John Wesley, in answer to his late pamphlet, entitled 'Free Thoughts on the Present State of Public Affairs.' (By Dr. J. Towers.) London, 1770; 8vo.

A CALM ADDRESS to our American Colonies. By John Wesley, M. A. London, 1775; 12mo.

Mr. Wesley has here revived some of the arguments urged by Dr. Johnson in his Taxation no Tyranny, and his Calm Address gave rise to as many answers as that celebrated pamphlet did.—Rich. Bib. Am. Bibliotheca Americana Nova.

||A LETTER to the Rev. Mr. John Wesley, occasioned by his Calm Address to the American Colonies. By the Rev. Caleb Evans, M. A. A new edition; to which are prefixed some observations on the Rev. Mr. Wesley's late reply. Bristol, 1775; 12mo., pp. 24.

The first edition of this pamphlet was published under the signature of Americanus. The following supplement to it, by a different writer, was published before this edition appeared with the author's real name.—Rich. Bib. Am. Nov.

A SECOND ANSWER to Mr. John Wesley, being a supplement to the Letter signed Americanus, in which the idea of supreme power, and the nature of royal charters, are briefly considered. By W. D. London, 1775; 12mo.

By an Hanoverian, (Rev. A. M. Toplady) London, 1775; 12mo, pp. 24.

The intention of the Hanoverian is, to show Mr. Wesley's honesty as a plagiarist; pointing out no less than thirty-one paragraphs borrowed from Johnson's Taxation, &c., and to raise a little skin by giving the Fox a gentle flogging as a turncoat.—Rich. Bib. Am. Nov.

A WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING, or an Old Jesuit Unmasked, containing an account of the Wonderful Apparition of Father Petre's Ghost, in the form of the Rev. John Wesley, with some conjectures concerning the secret cause that moved him to appear at this very critical juncture. By Patrick Bull, Esq. London, 1775; 12mo.

The title page states Dublin, printed; London, reprinted. The author insinuates that Mr. Wesley had solicited an American bishopric.—Rich. Bib. Am. Nov.

A LETTER to the Rev. Mr. John Wesley, on his Calm Address to the American Colonies, wherein is shown that his arguments are inconclusive, his principles arbitrary, and that his assertions are without foundation. By a Lover of Truth and the British Constitution. Manchester, 1775; 12mo.

||FALLACY DETECTED, In a Letter to the Rev. Mr. John Wesley, M. A., wherein his "Free Thoughts on the State of Public Affairs," and his "Calm Address to the Americans" are considered and compared. [n. p.], 1775; 16mo., pp. 40.

||A REPLY to the Rev. Mr. Fletcher's Vindication of Mr. Wesley's Calm Address. By the Rev. Caleb Evans, M. A. Bristol, 1776; 12mo. pp. 103.

Mr. Evans is a lively and sensible advocate for the freedom of the colonies, a spirited controvertist, and a zealous asserter of those liberal and noble principles to which we are indebted for the glorious revolution, &c.—Rich. Bib. Am. Nov.

POLITICAL EMPIRICISM, A Letter to the Rev. Mr. John Wesley. London, 1776; 8vo.

Attacks the author of the Calm Address, for borrowing Sam Johnson's quarter-staff, (Taxation no Tyranny), to drub the Americans. The author's weapons are, raillery and serious expostulation.—Monthly Review.

AMERICAN PATRIOTISM Farther Confronted with Reason, Scripture, and the Constitution; being observations on the dangerous politics taught by the Rev. Mr. Evans, M. A., and the Rev. ||POLITICAL SOPHISTRY DETECTED; or Brief Remarks on the Rev. Mr. Fletcher's late Tract, entitled American Patriotism. By the Rev. Caleb Evans, M. A. Bristol, 1776; 12mo., pp. 36.

A CALM ADDRESS to the inhabitants of England. By John Wesley, A. M. London, 1777.

Mr. Wesley's calmness is only to be found in his title pages; he is far from being a dispassionate writer; and the Americans have great reason to complain of him as a foment rather than a composer of national discord.—Monthly Review.

OBSERVATIONS on Mr. Wesley's second Calm Address, and incidentally on other writings upon the American Question. Together with Thoughts on Toleration, and on the point how far the conscience of the subject is concerned in a War; remarks on Constitutions in general, and that of England in particular; on the nature of Colonial Government, and a recommendation of a Plan of Peace. (By Capel Lofft, Esq.) London, 1777; 12mo.

A plain, sensible, and dispassionate refutation of Mr. Wesley's pamphlet.—Rich. Bib. Am. Nov.

FINISHING STROKE to Mr. Wesley's Calm Address. (By the Rev. James Murray.) Newcastle upon Tyne, 1778; 12mo.

Perhaps no two pamphlets did more good to the American cause than Dr. Johnson's Taxation no Tyranny, and Mr. Wesley's Calm Address, both intended to have quite a contrary effect from that which was produced by them. This arose from the numerous and able answers which were immediately circulated by lovers of truth, and enemies to oppression, in which the specious arguments of the ministerial hirelings were at once confuted and shown in their true light.—Rich. Bib. Am. Nov.

Mr. Wesley did not confine himself to religious discussion. In the beginning of the war in America, his character imbibed a strong tincture of politics: and two sermons* he preached at this juncture, in the Foundry, and West Street Chapel, from the views they contained of the conduct of the Government, and the anti-ministerial spirit which they breathed, were very remarkable. A gentleman happening to ask what he then thought of the public measures, was answered, "What should I think? Oppression will make a wise man mad." This is sufficient to show that at that period, he was decidedly averse to the war. Presently after, he changed his sentiments. His conversion was instantaneous; and what is most remarkable, in the history of this event, is, that sudden as it was, it was absolute and complete. Converted himself, his next care was to convert his brethren; and in this office, his zeal was indefatigable. He not only carried his sentiments into all companies, and made them the subject of almost every conversation, but he eagerly displayed them in public; and the pulpit finished what the table began.†

When Mr. Wesley changed his politics, and published his "Calm Address to the American Colonies," many copies were shipped for New York; a gentleman of that country, alarmed for the safety of a people with whom he was connected, and trembling for the probable consequences, should a pamphlet of such a tendency pass into general circulation, laid violent hands upon it, and destroyed or returned the whole impression; so that till a considerable time after this transaction, scarcely any one had heard that such a piece had been published. This incident was the salvation of Methodism in America.‡
